

In our business, all data is mission-critical. If we don't know what's going on the moment it's happening, we simply cannot function effectively.

As technology has evolved and consumer expectations have grown, we're always looking at ways to improve our competitive advantage. In 2011, we engaged This Solution to perform a system-wide audit for us. The goal was to migrate from physical on-premise infrastructure to virtual.

I'm happy to say that This Solution now assists our in-house IT manager on a regular basis with a range of IT services, including hands-on, design and implementation services. The team at This Solution continues to be a genuine asset to our business.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'P Kelly', is positioned above the printed name.

Paul Kelly
Communications Manager